Best Places to Work, Most Valuable Employees in Huntsville/Madison County

First Commercial Bank sponsored a luncheon on May 20 to unveil Huntsville/Madison County's 12 outstanding employers and 12 most valuable employees. Winners were based solely and exclusively on a survey completed by employees.

More than 300 area businesses were nominated by their employees for the 2014 Best Places to Work® awards, and more than 6,000 workers were nominated as Most Valuable Employees.

The awards are the result of a partnership between the Chamber of Commerce of Huntsville/Madison County and the North Alabama Society for Human Resource Management (NASHRM).

The survey guaranteed complete anonymity, providing employees the ability to answer questions without hesitation. Quantum, which specializes in measuring workplace satisfaction, administered the survey and tabulated the results.

"The significance of this speaks volumes. For one, this is truly a quantitative analysis," said Kim Lewis, the Chamber's vice chair for Small Business and the president of PROJECTXYZ, Inc. "These awards are based on real survey results from the employees, validating the efforts that the winning organizations put into creating a positive and growth-oriented environment for their employees." •
